The interest rates published by Vivier & Co apply from the date a client opens an account and selects or changes the notice period. Vivier & Co may change the rate at the end of each notice period and/or repay without notice, in whole or in part, at any time. Early withdrawal, where permitted, will result in a loss of interest approximating to $P \times R \times (O-A) \div O$, where P = principal sum, R = interest rate, O = original notice period and A = actual notice period.
